

ABSTRACT

The inventive method consists in simultaneously baking at least two parts (1,2) composing each wafer article (3), connecting said parts (1,2) along the mating edges thereof in such a way that the wafer article is produced in the form of a reservoir for a fat-containing confectionery product.